Take it from someone who, 28 years later, has yet to nail the perfect signature scent. Finding an all-encompassing, personality-slinky fragrance is extremely difficult. I browsed the department stores several times, sniffing each bottle (filled with a palette of cleaning whiffs of coffee beans and a few breaks for fresh air), but nothing ever landed in the way that represents me, reincarnated in eau de parfum. As a consolation, I found blends that hit certain aspects I like (musk, figs, citrus ...) and spray according to my mood du jour. Although as difficult as it was to please myself with the fragrance, I am even more taken to the task of finding a beautiful fragrance for a loved one. That's the beauty of a good fragrant gift set. You don't have to invest in a full-size iteration, and many come with a few different blends, so you can take a few for a spin at once. There may not be a bottled winner you gift, but at least there's a certain luxury in giving someone a flavor: Every curious little glass of vile home symphonic notes that evoke the feeling, whether it's warmth, nostalgia, joy, or, preferably not, disgust in a way that other gifts can't. This holiday season, we hope you will find your giftee (or yourself) the perfect combination. Take a look at our favorite fragrance gift sets below. Sephora Favorite Holiday Perfume Sampler $65 Shop for just $65, you get 15 different designer fragrances, from Tom Ford's Black Orchid Chloe Eau de Perfume Burberry To My Burberry.
